THE ROOSEVELT "DIVISION."

There are certain formalities which any one but Theodore Roosevelt might be expected to observe before assuming the title of Major General and invading Mexico at the head of a full division of volunteer troops. Naturally that is a minor point that the Colonel will decide for himself. If he makes up his mind to go soldiering again, he will be in supreme command and will operate independently of any Commander-in-Chief. It will be "My Way."

By the authority that always lies in him he will draft whatever officers of the regular army he may please for service and issue commissions to all persons he may select. Once more he will sound the trumpet that never called retreat, and the Roosevelt Division will spring from the ground in a day, like Mr. Bryan's million men, ready to charge on the City of Mexico and seize Carranza by the beard.

The Colonel merely needs to give the word to march. He is great on preparedness. Only the first, last and all the intermediate steps toward preparedness have not yet been taken by him. He has not the men, nor the rifles, nor the uniforms, nor the machine guns, nor the field artillery, nor the tanks, nor the ambulances, nor the aeroplanes, nor the other few essentials in the organization of a division. Everything else is waiting and will be ready on a moment's notice. The Colonel can sign his commission as Major General in two seconds.—New York World.

SIXES AND SEVENS.

The Progressive Party, that was had seven Representatives in the present House—Chandler of New York, Copley of Illinois, Elston, Nolan, Stephens of California; Martin of Louisiana; Schall of Minnesota. The seven meekly, and dutifully obey the command of Mr. Roosevelt. The action of Mr. Roosevelt was a fine, manly affair, says Mr. Chandler. "I endorse it."

Mr. Chandler and five of his fellow-Progressives in the House, six-sevenths of the Progressive membership, held a hand in a fine, manly affair in that body on March 7. Mr. Martin was the only one of the seven to vote on the motion to table the McLeome resolution. Six-sevenths of the Progressive Party in the House joined 102 Republicans, more than half the Republican strength in the House, to surrender the right of Americans to travel on the high seas. Only 33 out of 232 Democrats were in that squad of deserters of their country.

We congratulate Mr. Roosevelt on the loyalty of his supporters to himself. Neither his present nor his late party, judged by its record in Congress, has been loyal to the interests of the United States. No matter how vociferously he fulminates about Americanism and the hyphen and the Latinian, that record is written and stands, beyond apology, unforgettable, fatal.—New York Times.

MANCHESTER PAPER ASKS CLEMENCY IN CASEMENT SENTENCE

London, June 30.—The Manchester Guardian, one of the most influential papers in the country makes a direct plea for clemency for Sir Roger Casement.

While admitting that no other sentence but that of death could have been pronounced by the court, the Guardian says:

"Casement was a fanatic and his crimes, like those of many other fanatics, are free from the taint of sordidness and meanness. The death penalty will do nothing to kill such dreams as his. Rather it will give them life."

"For the sake of the new Ireland which we hope to see, it is a moment for clemency."

An indirect plea for mercy is made by other papers on the ground that the execution of Casement would not assist in settling the Irish problem.

AVIATOR CHAPMAN KILLED WHILE ON ERRAND OF MERCY

American Airman in French Corps on Way to Visit Wounded Friend.

Paris, June 30.—It was while on an errand of mercy for a wounded comrade that Corporal Victor Chapman, of New York, a member of the Franco-American Aviation Corps, met his death last week. Captain Boelcke, a German aviator who, up to that time had accounted for eighteen aeroplanes, sent Chapman to his death, but before he fell the American brought down two German machines.

These details are disclosed in a semi-official statement given out here today, which also announced rewards and promotions for other American aviators for recent accomplishments. All the members of the American squadron but two have now been decorated or promoted.

Sergeant Clyde Baldsley, of San Antonio, Tex., wounded in a fight near Verdun and probably crippled for life, is in a hospital a few miles from the aviation camp to which Corporal Chapman was attached. The sergeant asked for an orange but there was none to be had at the hospital. Corporal Chapman heard of the incident and decided to gratify the desire of his comrade. He obtained a small basket of oranges and set forth in his aeroplane for the hospital.

While he was on his way he saw several black spots against the sky to his right in the direction of the German lines. He flew toward them and discovered that three French aeroplanes were engaged with four German machines. The New York-er dashed into the fight. He rose to a great height and, swooping down on the Germans, put his machine gun in action.

His bullets found the mark and two German aeroplanes fell to earth. Chapman sent them down almost as soon as he entered the combat. Then Captain Boelcke turned on the American and caught him at such an angle that he was able to take the aeroplane with machine gun fire. One bullet struck a vital spot and Chapman plunged lifeless to the ground. He fell within the German lines.

The semi-official statement contains a tribute to the young American such as is seldom to be found in matter-of-fact communications of the kind. It says that a religious service will be held "in memory of this citizen of the United States who, inspired by sentiments of lofty idealism, gave his life for the cause of the allies."

For their recent accomplishments rewards and promotions have been given to American aviators as follows:

Lieutenant William K. Thaw, of Pittsburgh, the cross of the legion of honor.

Sergeant Kiffin Rockwell, of Atlantic, Ga., the military medal.

Sergeant Bert Hall, of Bowling Green, Ky., the military medal.

Official Views of World's War

TURKISH

Constantinople, June 30.—Russian troops in Persia have withdrawn from their fortified positions near Kerind after two desperate attacks which were repulsed by the Turks, says the official announcement issued at the Turkish war department today. The announcement follows:

"After two desperate Russian attacks against our positions east of Serrai, June 27, which were without result but in which the Russians suffered great losses, the Russians left their fortified positions east of Serrai in our hands and withdrew in the direction of Kerind, six miles southeast of Serrai. Our troops are pursuing the enemy."

ITALIAN

Paris, June 30.—In a terrific attack upon the French positions east of Hill 304, in the Verdun sector, the Germans captured a fortified work in the first line of the French trenches after the garrison had been literally buried under a storm of shells. The position was recaptured by brilliant French counter-attack, according to an official statement issued by the French war office today.

The Germans also delivered a powerful attack on the French positions in Avocourt Wood and west of Hill 304, but all their efforts are declared to have been checked with heavy losses to the attackers. Considerable activity is reported on the front from Neuport to the Aisne.

New Haven, June 30.—Earth tremors lasting about 40 minutes and originating apparently several thousand miles to the southward, were recorded last night on the seismograph at Yale University. The earthquake was of sufficient intensity to produce a clear record, began at 10:30 p. m. and continued until 10:50 p. m.
